Franzheim's Hall, on Main street, last night. The original intention had been to have a lawn party on the pleasant grounds sur-rounding the residence of Mrs. Braes, on North Frontstreet, Island, but the change in the weather interfered with this plan. This change, however, made it just right for dencing, and the heat was not a drawback to the pleasures of the evening. The affair was in part complimentary to the ladies visiting in the city. Kramer's orchestra fur-nished the music, and Durst the re-freshments, which were served at mid-night. "Gold and Gilding" was the subject of an original cration by John H. McDonald. He spoke of the shams and counterfells of the world, the hypocricies of men, as the gilding, and virtue and manhood as the pure gold, and urged all to learn to distinguish between the real and the imitation.

"Miss Libbis M. Moore had a sprightly and smile-provoking essay on "Pockets." The subject was freated in various lights, the pocket in history, the pocket as a key to character, and the "pocket as the recipient of the family purse, coming in for a share of attention.
